Executive Summary

The Issue

The Peoria Lakes are Greater Peoria's most precious natural resource, and they are a significant landmark in a glacial landscape that defined the region for thousands of years. The Peoria Lakes are the two natural riverine Lakes in the widened portion of the Illinois River in the Tri-County area of Peoria, Woodford, and Tazewell counties. The Lakes were formed by tributary deltas that narrowed the valley and pinched the river to form two shallow broad basins. The natural beauty of the 16,000-acre Lakes and their bluffs continue to attract people to Greater Peoria, just as they have for centuries.

Historically, Peoria Lakes were remarkably productive, which attracted Native Americans and European settlers who benefited from abundant, river-derived resources, such as fish and wildlife, pristine water, and expansive wetlands. However, as increasing urban development, conversion of prairie lands to agricultural fields, and industrialization occurred over time, water quality declined, habitat was lost and degraded, and sedimentation has steadily filled in the Lakes. Today, most areas of the Peoria Lakes are less than three feet deep.

The Planning Team

The Peoria Lakes Basin Alliance (PLBA), comprised of Heartland Water Resources Council, The Nature Conservancy, and Tri-County Regional Planning Commission (TCRPC), led an effort to develop a Comprehensive Conservation Plan in conjunction with the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE). On behalf of the PLBA, TCRPC applied for and received funding from the USACE Planning Assistance to States (PAS) program, which is authorized under the provision of Section 22 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1974, as amended.

The Planning Process: Key Aspects

The goal of the planning process, whose geographical scope spans from blufftop to blufftop, is to reach a regional consensus on future Peoria Lakes conservation strategies. Concurrently, the collaborative also gathered regional support to take needed action on conservation efforts. In the long run, the Greater Peoria area will be well-positioned to move forward to conserve its iconic Lakes.

The PLBA developed a vision statement to help guide potential conservation projects and studies that would help achieve the following:

A vibrant body of clean water with mixed water depths to sustain healthy natural habitats supporting abundant and diverse native plants and animals which contributes to our quality of life by providing increased opportunity for safe recreation, education, compatible transportation and economic development, and enjoyment by divergent constituent interests.

To further help guide the planning process, the planning team developed a set of objectives. Please note that these objectives are in no specific order.

Objective 1: Reduce total sediment delivery to the Peoria Lakes.

Objective 2: Increase the acreage of aquatic vegetation in the Peoria Lakes.

- Objective 3: Improve Peoria Lakes water quality.
- Objective 4: Improve and protect wetland acres, floodplain acres, and streambank miles in the Peoria Lakes.
- Objective 5: Improve and protect river bluff and steep slope areas along Peoria Lakes.
- Objective 6: Improve and diversify deepwater habitat and increasing number of native fishes in Peoria Lakes.
- Objective 7: Improve the quality of life in the region.

Public Outreach

Multiple advertising and outreach methods encouraged public participation and input. An open house, held on Thursday, July 13, 2017 at the Illinois Valley Yacht (IVY) Club in Peoria Heights, informed the public about the planning process and invited input from attendees. The purpose of this event was to help launch the planning process by educating the public and stakeholders about the state of the Lakes and asking for input. Participants had the opportunity to supply comments through multiple interactive stations to help the planning team gauge the public perception of the Lakes and inventory how they are used.

The planning team also established a Project Review Committee (PRC) to allow stakeholders to contribute, review public feedback, and ultimately prioritize the preferred conservation measures (specific conservation steps or actions to be considered for implementation). The PRC included stakeholders representing Peoria Lakes interest groups including: economic development organizations, environmental advocacy groups, government entities, landowners, recreation and tourism organizations, river transportation businesses, and subject matter experts.

PRC members attended their first meeting on Wednesday, November 1, 2017 in the TCRPC offices. The purpose of this meeting was to bring the newly formed PRC up to speed on the planning process, discuss their role, and ensure that all members understood the process to develop conservation measures and alternatives (logical groupings of conservation measures).

Multiple stakeholders developed fact sheets, or two-page overviews, to outline suggested conservation measures. Each fact sheet included a description, possible location, status, history, new relevant information, benefits, constraints, and operation and maintenance information. The US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) developed the first 13 fact sheets, and at the first PRC meeting, the members were invited to add to that. From that invitation, PRC members submitted an additional 23 fact sheets.

Analysis and Review

While reviewing the original 36 fact sheets, the planning team found many of them to be redundant due to the variety of entities which had contributed. Therefore, TCRPC staff went through a consolidation process with USACE input. The final condensed list included 19 measures and a separate "Recommended Studies" category. The full and consolidated lists of measures and recommended studies can be found on the project's website, PartakeInPeoriaLakes.org, and in their own sections of this report.

On other projects, USACE Upper Mississippi and Illinois River planners have categorized ecosystem process and function using Essential Ecosystem Characteristics (EECs): Hydrology, Geomorphology, Water Quality, Habitat, and Biota. These EECs were selected because they represent the primary river ecosystem drivers. Hydrology is often considered a “master variable” that drives geomorphology and water quality outcomes. These factors then feed to habitat characteristics that determine the biota at a site. The Peoria Lakes planning team organized the conservation measures into these EEC categories, plus a Social and Economic category to accommodate the broad range of interests required to implement this plan.

The planning team also separated the alternatives by location. Defining regions of the Lakes helps break the plan into smaller, more manageable sections and helps identify the agency or partnership most appropriate for project implementation in the long run. Based on watershed influences and in-lake characteristics, the planning team established conservation alternatives for three reaches of the Peoria Lakes and one that included the entire area. Peoria Lakes is traditionally viewed as Upper and Lower Peoria Lakes divided by the narrows at the Ten Mile Creek delta, which forms Upper Peoria Lake. However, the planning team decided to delineate a second section, Middle Peoria Lake, which separates the Upper Lake at river mile 177. This is because the uppermost reaches of Peoria Lakes can be split at the Partridge Creek delta as a logical subdivision that includes several existing conservation areas. Watershed characteristics differ among reaches with loosely defined urban, suburban, and rural characteristics affecting lower, middle, and upper sections, respectively. The list of conservation alternatives developed by the USACE subject matter experts is shown in the body of this report.

Watershed relationships are also critical to the plan, so the team considered three sediment issues: sources, pathways, and sinks. Each alternative encompassed all three, addressing the flow of sediment throughout the Peoria Lakes watershed. This way, the plan would consider the reduction of sediment sources, the interception or stabilization of sediment pathways, and the removal of material from sediment sinks in the Lakes.

Final Stages

A second open house, convened on Tuesday, June 26, 2018 at the Gateway Building on the Downtown Peoria Riverfront, updated the public on the project. The purpose of this event was to showcase the conservation alternatives and to have the public prioritize preferred conservation measures. In an interactive sticker exercise, participants were asked to prioritize conservation measures using three criteria: environmental impact, quality of life, and feasibility/sustainability.

PRC members attended a second meeting on Wednesday, July 11, 2018 at the TCRPC offices. The purpose of the meeting was to update the PRC on what was completed since the last meeting and to prioritize the identified conservation measures. The PRC used the same methods as the public, the interactive sticker exercise, to prioritize the measures. The PRC members who were unable to attend the meeting in person were encouraged to complete the activity electronically via Google Forms.

TCRPC staff considered several elements to help formulate the recommended plan: the prioritization results, Essential Ecosystem Characteristics (EECs), project objectives, conservation measures, conservation alternatives, and sediment issues (sources, pathways, and sinks). The team experimented with organizing this data in different ways:

categorizing the conservation measures based on EEC categories, classifying the objectives based on EECs, grouping the conservation measures by objectives, organizing the measures by the objectives, categorizing the measures by the sediment issue, and classifying the alternatives by the watershed areas. This process revealed considerable overlap: most measures address more than one EEC, most objectives address more than one EEC, etc. This was a positive thing, knowing that all major aspects of this plan are truly connected.

Further, to determine which measures would be highlighted in the recommended plan, the planning team compared the prioritization results from the interactive sticker exercise from the second open house and PRC meeting. Fourteen measures appeared in the top three of each criteria or overall. Below, Figure 1 outlines the 14 measures. Note that this process does not exclude the remaining four measures from this or any future plan.

Once the 14 preferred measures were identified, the planning team reviewed each measure and connected them based on common or related benefits. Then, they were organized based on the seven objectives developed for the Comprehensive Conservation Plan. A complete list of the organized objectives can be found in the Recommended Plan section of this report.

Next Steps

Also, in the Recommended Plan section is the Implementation Plan, which outlines each measure based on potential owners and funding mechanisms. This list, from Tri-County’s contact list and active stakeholders, was kept broad to accommodate future unknown issues.

Lastly, a Multi-Generational Project Plan can also be seen in the Recommended Plan section. It highlights the fact that this planning effort is a multigenerational undertaking and will not be completed “overnight.” The Multi-Generational Project Plan divides the Comprehensive Conservation Plan into more manageable and logical phases or generations.

In truth, the completion of this plan does not mean that the process is done. Rather, this plan should be seen as a starting point to provide detailed options for future actions to be taken to better conserve the Peoria Lakes. It is the hope of the planning team that this process will instill a critical community interest and push towards a positive future.
